Experts in Emergency Water Delivery 24/7

Ensuring Water Delivery for Corporations and Businesses in ALL Emergency Situations

Potable Water

Drinking Water that is safe for food preparation and drinking without any risk of health problems when consumed.

Non-Potable Water

Non-Drinkable Water that has not been tested or treated that is therefore unsafe for consumption.

National Emergency Water Plans

National Emergency Water we provide a valuable service to all business locations- professional, retail, industrial, and other operational facilities. Our emergency water plans will assure a business will have water on the premise if there is ever a time that water is interrupted to a site. We will immediately have a water tank truck deliver potable and/or non-potable water when an interruption is reported on a property. Consider us a 'Liquid Asset' - we are here to help with emergency water for business locations!

We use the beneficial tank monitoring system of TankLink/SkyBitz to track important data remotely so that a water tank is never in a critically low state. This data will enhance efficiency with our operation and will provide the opportunity to see monitor results 24/7 with metric data, tank levels and alerts so each bulk water delivery is timely. We use this service and pair it with our Emergency Water Plans for an efficient water service option. Contact us to schedule a consultation for your business.

What Our Clients Say

"Our well ran dry on Sunday evening. We were very concerned that we would have to go without opening the next day. The only company that was found that would deliver water was National Emergency Water! At 8pm on Sunday night they were bringing in water! They were awesome! We will never go without an emergency water contract for our business."

National Emergency Water pre-plans with our customers for ALL water emergencies. We use metered driven data to help assess how much water is used on a daily basis. From here, we can establish an Emergency Water Contract or in better terms INSURANCE for water.

Our service is for businesses who ask themselves- Do I need on-site water at our commercial building or business site quickly when normal water flow is interrupted? We will research your metered water data to figure out the magnitude and volume that a location uses to create a strategy for your business.

National Emergency Water will use the determined data driven water numbers and create an emergency water contract. A water service contract is based on an individual companies need and could include:

- Onsite water tanks in various sizes
- Remote tank monitoring with our state of the art monitoring system – TankLink/SkyBitz
- Emergency Bulk Water Delivery from our many predetermined water sources throughout the U.S.
- Water Reports that show usage and reserves
- Generators
- Potable and Non-Potable Water

Most businesses don't have back up water onsite. Our business goal is to create a Water Contingency Plan so when a business is faced with site maintenance, industrial accidents, natural disasters or a random emergency and water isn't available-WE WILL CREATE A SOURCE OF WATER ON THE PREMISE.

National Emergency Water uses an online water measuring program called SmartTank/SkyBitz to keep track of what the water levels of onsite water tanks are measuring, the usage speed and the needed amount of water needed to keep the water source onsite at an optimal level. We work hard to keep our equipment and trucks up to regulatory standards so they pass every inspection.

We believe that the main service that National Emergency Water provides is peace of mind- we will deliver the amount of water that is predetermined immediately when an emergency on your business premises is reported. Call 602-429-6200 for further information.
